MACLEOD OF MACLEOD

Seriously Ill

Special Air Mail Service

London, Aug. 21.

MacLeod of MacLeod, 27th chief of his clan, who is lying seriously ill in his ancestral home, Dunvegan Castle, in Skye, is now in his 88th year.

There is a tragedy in his family.
It is associated with the Fairy
Flag, which hangs on a wall of Dunvegan Castle to-day.

The flag was credited with magic properties. When unfurled it magnified the Macleods seven times in the sight of their enemies. But the magic was limited. The flag could be unfurled only three times.

HEIR KILL IN THE WAR

The flag was unfurled twice with great success at two battles
in the Middle Ages.

The third unfurling took place
in fulfilment of a prophecy by a Highland seer, who predicted that when the Fairy Flag should be unfurled a third time, the glory of the Macleods would depart and most of their land would be sold.
In later times, however, a Macleod named Iain Breac would arise, who would redeem the glory
and the estates.

The flag was stolen and unfurled
in 1799 by an English blacksmith. It lost its magic powers. The glory of the Mac-leods departed.

At the beginning of this century their revived hopes were fixed on Iain Breac, son of the late Canon Rory Macleod of Macleod. Iain was killed in the war.
To-day there is no male heir in direct descent.

HER BIRTHDAY GIFTS

Princess Makes Her
Selections

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess
Margaret Rose yesterday visited Forfar on a shopping expedition
in preparation for Princess Margaret Rose's fifth birthday, which is being celebrated to-morrow at Glamis Castle, residence of her grandparents, the Earl and Countess of Strathmore.

They were accompanied by their mother, the Duchess of York, and their grandmother, the Countess of Strathmore, and as their saloon car drew up at a stationer's shop
in Castle Street a large crowd gathered to catch a glimpse of the royal visitors.

The Duchess was wearing a light grey costume. She also wore a rope of pearls. Her hat was in the new Princess Margaret Rose shade of pink, as were also the coats worn by both Princesses.

Many purchases were made,
including books, book-ends, paper-
weights, and small ornaments.

LOVE OF ANIMALS

A deep love of animals was displayed by Princess Margaret Rose in her selection, which included books on science and nature study.
As a birthday gift from the stationer the little Princess chose a paper-weight in alabaster with a seagull mounted on it.

The Princess also lifted and fondled a small grey kitten which was playing on the floor, and later visited the printing department, where they were intrigued by the various processes they saw.

The Duchess and Princesses smiled and waved their hands to the crowd which surged round the car and cheered them as they left the shop. Later the car stopped while the party spoke to Mr. J. S. Whyte, of

THE KING AND QUEEN

Coming Visit To Balmoral

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21.

The King will arrive at Balmoral
Castle on Wednesday morning,
and will be welcomed by a full muster of the Balmoral Highlanders, under the command of Major D. W. A. D. Mackenzie, H.M.
Commissioner.

It has been arranged that when the Royal train reaches Aberdeen station at 8.20 a.m. the Lord Provost, magistrates, and chief officials of Aberdeen Town Council will be in attendance on the platform to convey to his Majesty the greetings of the community and their congratulations upon the attainment of his Silver Jubilee.
On the journey along Deeside to the railway terminus at Ballater
the King will see at successive railway stations floral designs in red, white, and blue devised by the staffs as a Jubilee year welcome.

On arrival at Ballater his Majesty will be received by Lord
Aberdeen, Lord Lieutenant of Aberdeenshire, by Lieutenant-Colonel A. H. Farquharson of Invercauld, over part of whose estates the King will shoot, and by representatives of the burgh.

ROYAL GUARD

The Royal Guard of Honour is this year furnished by The Black Watch and will be mounted at Ballater station square, under the command of Major Gilmour.
Along the streets of Ballater to be traversed by the King, and at hamlets and farm buildings on the highroad to Balmoral, flags and bunting will be displayed. There will be similar manifestations of welcome when the Queen arrives
from Harewood on Thursday,
August 29.

Deeside's social season will be in full swing as from the middle of this week. On Tuesday there will be sheep dog trials at Aboyne Castle Park. The presence of dogs of international repute in the competitions assures keen interest in this event. On Wednesday most of the leading dogs will be taken to Keith in Banffshire
to trials which will be attended by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and his party from Leamington, and over which Sir Edmund Findlay of Aberlour will preside. Thursday will see the holding of Ballater highland games. On Friday a ball will be given at Dunecht
House by Lord Cowdray to about 500 guests. The annual County hall will be held at Aberdeen on August 30.

END OF FREEMASONRY IN GERMANY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21.

Dr. Frick, the Reich Minister of the Interior, has ordered the dissolution and confiscation of the property of all Freemasons' lodges in Germany and the Saar which have not already dissolved themselves. The step was foreshadowed in a speech made by Dr. Frick at Essen a fortnight ago, in which he said: "It is not fitting to have a secret society with dark aims in the Third Reich."

This is apparently the end in Germany of Freemasonry, which,
as "standing under Jewish influences," has always been considered by the Nazis.

Edybank, Forfar, an old friend of the Countess of Strathmore.
The Duchess said they were enjoying their visit to Glamis very much and feeling the benefit of it,
and the Princesses said they were enjoying their visit and looking forward to the birthday party.

WORLD FINANCE GENIUS

Sir Basil Blackett's Career

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 25. It is probably true to say that the world possessed no greater authority on international finance than Sir Basil Phillott Blackett whose death in a car accident in Germany we announce with regret on Page 13.

By the knowledge he had accumulated, and the striking manner in which he made use of it at the Treasury, in India, and in commerce, he revealed ability of a remarkable kind. His greatest achievement was in India, from 1922 to 1923.

He had been serving for three years as Controller of Finance at the Treasury when the critical financial position which had developed in India demanded the most expert attention. He was called upon to supply it, and was sent out as Finance Member of the Viceroy's Executive Council.

The war, had seasons, and unstable exchange had led to the Government of India being faced, for five years in succession, with deficits totalling about £75,000,000. The situation was rapidly becoming rapidly becoming worse.

Sir Basil tackled the problem with tremendous energy. He had previous experience of Indian finance, having been secretary of the Royal Commission on that subject which reported in 1914, but the conditions then bore little resemblance to those he had to face in 1922.

He had to provide adequate remedies for a desperate situation in face of the uncompromising hostility of various interests and the hampering attitude of the Legislative Assembly.

DEFICITS CLEARED

By sound schemes, patiently formulated and fought for, and by brilliant expositions of currency and financial questions, he effected a complete transformation. He was helped by better seasons than had been enjoyed. When he produced his final budget in 1923 he was able to show that he had found a method of clearing the deficits, and of furthering important provincial developments without resort to increased taxation.

He made Indian finances secure, and, by common consent, he was regarded as one of the ablest men ever sent from this country to India.

Long before this, however, he had given clear proof of his great ability. The son of a Nottingham vicar, the late Rev. William Russell Blackett, Sir Basil, who was born in 1882, entered the Treasury in 1904, after distinguishing himself at Oxford as a classical scholar, taking a First in Greats.

Ten years later, after the outbreak of war, he was sent with a special mission to the United States, charged with the duty of removing the exchange problems that had arisen. His work was so valuable that, in the following year, he was sent back to the United States, this time as a member of the Anglo-French Financial Mission, which carried through the negotiations resulting in an Anglo-French loan of £100,000,000.

In 1917 he became the British Treasury's representative in the United States. He held this office until 1919. Then, when Sir John Bradbury was appointed British representative on the Reparations Commission, Sir Basil became Controller of Finance at the Treasury.

Then followed his work in India. Before returning home in 1923 he made a valuable tour of Australia, China, and Japan, investigating monetary conditions.

Shortly after he had settled down in England he left the Civil Service. In January, 1923, he became chairman, as the Government nominee, of Imperial and International Communications Ltd., the gigantic organisation which was given control of cable and wireless systems.

This was the beginning of an active connection with the City which was to result in his becoming a director of the Bank of England and of many other concerns, including De Beers Consolidated Diamond Mines, Ltd., (Griqualand West), Diamond Mining Co., De Beers Mining Co., Ltd., and the Premier (Transvaal) Diamond Mining Co., Ltd.

His duties took him far afield. He went to Canada, to South Africa, and, in 1933, to Malaya, where he made an exhaustive examination of currency problems at the request of the Government.

ADVISER TO MR. LLOYD GEORGE

In April, 1932, he resigned his chairmanship of Imperial and International Communications Ltd., and of Cables and Wireless Ltd., becoming a director only. This was to give him more time for other interests, including candidature for Parliament. He contested the St. Marylebone Division as a Conservative, but was defeated by Capt. Cunningham-Reid.

In recent months Sir Basil had displayed a keen anxiety to further schemes which he believed were necessary for the improvement of the economic position. Last year, as a member of the National Housing Committee, he helped to produce an interim report advocating the expenditure of £400,000,000 in the provision of 1,000,000 houses to be let at an inclusive rental of 10s per week.

Last month his name appeared as one of the signatories to the book, "The Next Five Years: An Essay in Political Agreement," which Mr. Lloyd George announced was to be consulted by him before finally formulating his "New Deal" plans. It became known, also, that Sir Basil was one of Mr. Lloyd George's experts.

Sir Basil endeavoured to reconcile his support of Mr. Lloyd George with his position as a Conservative by emphasising what he regarded as the urgency for action.

In many speeches during the past five years he had contended vigorously that unless big reforms were carried out modern civilisation must crumble and decay, like the Roman Empire. He attributed the world's troubles chiefly to mismanagement of the Gold Standard, and, in the absence of an international currency based on sterling, he suggested, as a half-way house, something between that and one based on local currencies. He was confident that some currency of this kind, based on sterling would be of enormous benefit.

"We see," he exclaimed on one occasion, "a threatening danger to the complete break-up of civilisation as we know it. The laissez-faire of the nineteenth century must give way to some form of conscious organisation and direction." In another speech he declared: "The present generation is trying in various directions to face twentieth century conditions of life with sixteenth century traditions."

He placed his faith in youth. "The supreme need of the day," he asserted, "is for young men, able and willing to question every institution, to take nothing for granted, to be iconoclasts, in the good sense, devoted to the destruction of ideals. Planning ahead and thinking ahead are the tasks of the twentieth century."

A man of much personal charm, he was never afraid of being disliked or criticised when he was advocating with sincerity the actions he firmly believed were necessary. A late member of the Indian Legislative Council once described him as "a cheerful cherub with the methods of a steam-roller."

Sir Basil is survived by his second wife, Beatrice, daughter of the late Edward H. Bonner, of New York, whom he married in 1920.

RELIC FOR THE BANK

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21.

The Bank of England will shortly come into possession of £5 note No. 1, dated April 15, 1793, under the will of Mr. Charles Daniel Higham, former actuary of the Bank Provident Society, of Regent's Park, N.W.

The note, it was stated, yesterday, is of considerable historical interest. In the collectors' market, however, it would not be valued highly. An authority said:

"The value of such notes is usually little more than their face value, as there is not a great demand for them. I imagine this one would be worth between £25 and £30. The fact that it is the first note added interest, and it is were to come up for auction, it might fetch as much as £100."

NO "SECRET" PLAN

Efforts To Stop New Race

I am authorised to state a report published to the effect that the Admiralty is "secretly" committing the nation to a seven-year naval building programme at a cost of more than £150,000,000 is purely imaginary and has no basis other than conjecture, writes Hector Bywater in the "Daily Telegraph."

There is no fixity about any programme that the Admiralty has prepared, since it will be entirely dependent upon the building of other countries, and it is quite impossible for the country to be committed to vast expenditure without the express authority of Parliament.

It is true that tentative details of the number and types of warships which this country proposes to build in the next few years have been communicated privately to certain foreign Governments, as the First Lord recently announced. But the final dimensions of that "programme" cannot possibly be fixed until the naval intentions of other Powers are at least approximately known.

It was with a view to eliciting that information that the Admiralty communicated, through diplomatic channels, a purely provisional estimate of British naval requirements in the near future measured by existing foreign programmes.

NO DEFINITE POLICY

In plain terms, however, neither the Government nor the Admiralty has any definite naval programme in view at the present time. This declaration, I may say, emanates from official sources.

The following may be accepted as a reliable statement of the position:

1. The British Government's one aim in respect of naval policy is to prevent a new building race when the limitation treaties lapse at the end of next year. To achieve this aim it is employing every effort to induce all the major naval Powers to lay their cards on the table.

The only "secret" about the business is that enforced by the delicate nature of the negotiations. I may add that certain foreign Powers flatly refused to disclose their building plans except under a pledge that the British Government would treat them as confidential. That is the explanation of the Admiralty's reticence.

FIVE NEW BATTLESHIPS

2. There has never been any question of our laying down eight battleships in the period 1937-39. As I was able to disclose in The Daily Telegraph on June 17, two battleships are likely to be started in 1937, two in the following year, and one in 1939—that is to say, five ships in three years. And even this modest programme may be cut if the next naval conference is fruitful.

3. That the present British maximum of 50 cruisers is to be discarded when the treaties expire was revealed in The Daily Telegraph. This figure has long been recognised as inadequate, and unless a drastic reduction takes place in foreign cruiser programme we shall increase our total to 60 ships as soon as practicable.

4. No proposal to abolish battleships has ever been made formally by Italy or any other major Power. So far from Italy being prepared to abolish these vessels, she is now building the two largest battleships in existence.

5. At the next naval conference Britain will introduce definite proposals for abolishing and outlawing the submarine. In this she will have the full support of the United States and Germany, and, I understand, the sympathetic backing of Italy, whose final decision will depend on the attitude of France. For the first time, therefore, a powerful anti-submarine bloc is in existence, and the hope of eventually getting rid of this sinister weapon is proportionately strengthened.

STAPLES SURPRISES!

Variety Of Tasty Dishes

Rice is very nutritious and often is substituted for potatoes and bread. The most popular way of serving it is boiled. However, boiled rice day after day may become monotonous. This would be a pity as there are so many delightful and different ways for serving this nutritious food providing variety in the daily menu. Some of these recipes are given below:

RICE AND CHEESE SOUFFLE

- 2 slightly-beaten eggs
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 2 cup cooked rice
- 1 cup grated cheese

Mix above ingredients together and pour into greased baking dish. Sprinkle top with 1 cup grated cheese. Set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for 30 minutes, or until knife inserted comes out clean.

RICE A LA RUSSE

(Serve on toast for luncheon.)

- 1 cup uncooked rice
 - 1 1/2 cups chicken or beef stock
 - 1 1/2 cups strained tomatoes
 - 1 teaspoon grated onion
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon pepper
- Put rice, stock, tomatoes, onion, salt and pepper in top of double boiler. Cook 1 hour or until tender. Remove from heat. Stir into 1 tablespoon butter and 1/2 cup hot evaporated milk. Serve at once.

RICE AND NUT RABBIT

- 1 tablespoon flour
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 cup evaporated milk diluted with
- 1 cup water
- 1 cup grated cheese
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 teaspoon salt

Mix flour and water to a thin paste. Stir in diluted milk and cheese. Cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add rice, nuts and salt. Heat thoroughly. Serve on toast or crackers.

Emergency Meals

Lucky is the bride who numbers a waffle iron among her wedding gifts. Crisp, golden waffles delight the dinner from breakfast to the after-movie party and even have a place in the main course or dessert.

Rice waffles and creamed chicken or creamed fish, plain waffles and crushed berries; chocolate waffles and whipped cream and green corn waffles, are just a few of the luscious combinations possible.

And most important, waffles always can be made at the last minute, so they hold first rank of emergency dishes.

Because waffle batter is a pour batter, it's much more convenient to mix it in a pitcher and pour it on the waffle iron rather than dip it with a spoon from a mixing bowl. The lipped bowls are attractive and I find them easier to beat in than a straight-sided pitcher.

WIPE, DON'T WASH

Never wash a waffle iron! The metal must be seasoned before using, but after that, even this material should not be washed. After each baking wipe with soft crumpled paper and remove all crumbs with a stiff brush kept for the purpose.

Pain waffles with creamed salmon and fresh peas make a delicious luncheon for a summer noon when the weather suddenly turns cool.

I remember one evening I had planned to serve Boston coolers because the weather had been almost unbearably hot. Early in the evening a thunder storm came up and by ten o'clock everybody wanted a sweeter and Boston coolers were taboo. So we made waffles and had piping hot coffee with waffles and ice cream and nobody knew that it hadn't been planned that way.

FAVOURITE EGG DISHES

COATED EGGS WITH CREAMED NOODLES

Add 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce to 1 lb. sausage meat and mix well. Divide meat into six parts. Shell 6 hard cooked eggs and coat each egg completely with one portion of the sausage, pressing well so it adheres firmly to the egg. Dip the coated egg first into slightly beaten egg, then into crushed Rice Flakes (1 egg and 1 cup Rice Flakes, crushed after measuring). Fry in deep hot fat (375° F.) until crisp and browned—about 3 or 4 minutes. Drain well. Cut 3 of the eggs in halves lengthwise and 3 in halves crosswise. Toast 6 slices of bread to a gold brown, then spread with butter. Cut each slice of toast into two triangles, and place two triangles, points together, in center of plate, and in each angle place one-half of an egg, having one lengthwise and one crosswise half on each plate. Pour a generous serving of Creamed Noodles over toast triangles and garnish with parsley. (Note: Prepare the Creamed Noodles while the fat is getting hot.)

Creamed Noodles—Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add 3 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk and 1-16 oz. Noodle Soup with Chicken, and cook, stirring constantly, until thick.

EGGS IN MUSHROOM SAUCE

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add 3 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1-16 oz. can Cream of Mushroom Soup and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add 6 sliced hard cooked eggs, and heat just long enough to heat eggs through. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve on toast or crackers.

DEVILED ONIONS WITH EGGS

Mince 6 cold boiled onions and 2 hard cooked eggs. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in a saucepan, add 1 tablespoon flour and blend well. Add 2/3 cup milk and stir until thickened. Season with 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce, 1 teaspoon Prepared Brown Mustard, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and a dash of pepper and paprika. Add this pungent sauce to the minced onions and eggs, place in a baking dish, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs or grated cheese, and bake in a moderately slow oven (350° F.) for about 20 minutes or until lightly browned. This is an unusual dish and a very good one.

EGGS WITH CHICKEN NOODLES

When separating eggs for angel food cake, gently place yolks in large soup bowl, being careful not to break them. After cake is in oven, bring 1 quart water to simmering point, and add 1 tablespoon Cider or White Vinegar, then let yolks slide from dish into water. Every 3 or 4 minutes, move yolks around in water with wooden spoon so they do not touch. Cook 10 minutes or until quite firm. Drain and cool, if not used at once. Pan broil 5 or 6 thin slices raw or boiled ham in 2 tablespoons butter until golden brown, then remove from skillet and place each slice of ham on a thin slice of buttered toast which is arranged on warm platter. Blend 2 tablespoons flour with butter remaining in skillet, then add 1-16 oz. can Noodle Soup with Chicken and stir until a medium thick sauce is formed. Place egg yolks in sauce and allow mixture to simmer slowly until eggs are heated through. Arrange 2 yolks on each slice of ham and surround them with Noodles and Sauce.

SPAGHETTI AND EGG SCRAMBLE

Fry 5 slices bacon until crisp, then remove from pan and break into small pieces. Beat 4 eggs until light and fluffy, add 1-13/4 oz. can Cooked Spaghetti in Tomato Sauce, and turn into skillet, containing a small amount of the bacon fat. Stir gently until the consistency of scrambled eggs. Add bacon broken into small pieces, and salt and pepper to taste. Serve on toast. Whole bacon slices may be placed around the scrambled spaghetti rather than added, if desired.

CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

THE NIGHT IS YOUNG

A "preview" of a picture before it was filmed was the unique device by which "The Night Is Young," new Sigmund Romberg-Oscar Hammerstein II musical romance of Vienna showing at the Oriental Theatre on Friday and Saturday was introduced to Ramon Novarro, Evelyn Laye and the rest of the cast at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

The "preview" was an audition held on completion of the unique script, in which music is scored to every moment of action.

The new picture is a glamorous romance of Vienna and the Imperial Ballet, with Novarro as a gay young Austrian archduke and Miss Laye as a ballet dancer. It is the first picture for the champagne-blonde British star since her arrival from London.

Spectacular scenes in the great Prater or amusement park, the Imperial Opera, the Emperor's palace, and in quaint Viennese cafes and pleasure spots figure in the elaborate settings.

Song hits such as "The Night Is Young," "When I Grow Too Old To Dream," "Wolfer Schnitzel" and others embellish the haunting romance.

The cast includes Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel, Edward Everett Horton, Donald Cook, Henry Stephenson, Rosalind Russell, Herman Bing, Charles Judels and Albert Conti.

IT'S A COP

Sydney Howard has never been in a film which so suits his particular characteristics as "It's A Cop" in which he takes the part of a particularly thick-witted Police Constable.

As P. C. Spry he sets out in search of promotion and becomes involved with a gang of crooks who plan to steal a secret formula, the charms of Babette, an accomplice, being employed to keep him out of the way while the burglary is carried out.

Temporarily disgraced, our noble constable is faced with the necessity of setting off on the trail alone in order to rehabilitate himself.

Chance takes him to a road-house, where he runs across Babette once more. The crooks get away, and a hectic car chase to Limchouse follows. Although supposedly put out of action, Spry makes a characteristic recovery, and manages to arrest the gang.

Spry is a P. C. no longer, he's a sergeant now!

As you may imagine Sydney Howard looks every inch the dumb Spry and plays the part accordingly. He is supported by an exceptionally fine cast including Dorothy Bouchier, Donald Calhoun, Garry Marsh, Anne Esmond and John Turnbull.

Do not miss this film, showing to-day at the King's Theatre.

GIGOLETTE

At The Queen's

"Gigolette" the RKO-Radio picture which opened its season yesterday at the Queen's Theatre is a colourful picture of the night life of New York.

The story opens with Key Parish, a former society girl being forced to leave the hotel when her funds run out and being out of employment she is unable to meet the overdue bill. This happens after the suicide of her father.

As a last resort she turns to the owner of a shady night club in New York who had once offered her a job when she was well off. She was taken on and then came Gregg Emerson, vengeful for having once been cheated in the same club. He meets Key and when he is thrown out for refusing to pay his check she escorts him home. Then the romance ripens; with Terry as the third in the eternal triangle.

Adrienne Ames is superb as the society girl. She plays the role with dramatic effectiveness while Ralph Bellamy presents a very accurate characterization as Terry. The laughs of the evening is provided by Robert Armstrong while Donald Cook is also good as Gregg Emerson.

On the whole the picture is a very engrossing subject, capably interpreted by a well chosen cast.

DEATH-RAY MAN FOR BRITAIN?

Danish Inventor Invited to Make Tests

(Special Air Mail Service)

London Aug. 21. M. Ravn, a Danish engineer, who claims to have invented an electric death ray which will cause aircraft to explode in the air, said in Copenhagen yesterday that he has received a private invitation to visit Britain to carry out tests.

He declares that his death ray is effective in a radius of 50 to 60 miles from the transmitter.

M. Ravn will accept the invitation on certain conditions, chiefly concerning the electric potential with which he works. It is very high, and involves risk.

He claims that he can produce an effective death-ray apparatus within six months.

M. Ravn claims to have invented his death ray in the early days of the war. He made experiments at the Danish Navy Station in the years 1914-16. A certificate on the tests, issued by the Army Technical Department, is also stated to be in existence.

BRITAIN THREATENED

Lake Tsana Peril To Egypt And Soudan

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21. It is now regarded as practically certain that war will break out in October.

Italy appears disposed to withdraw her recognition, in an exchange of Notes in 1925, of the special interests of Britain in the Lake Tsana region of Abyssinia, it was authoritative stated in London last night.

According to the report mentioned, hints were made that Italy was not now prepared because of Britain's opposition to her in Geneva and Paris to reaffirm her previous statements recognising Britain's predominance in maintaining control over Lake Tsana and over headwaters of the rivers, vital to the prosperity and even the existence of Egypt and the Soudan.

Mr. Baldwin, the Premier, is interrupting his holiday at Aix-les-Bains to attend an emergency meeting of the Cabinet, which will consider the situation created by the breakdown of the three-Power talks in Paris.

Mr. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, flew back to London last night. Mr. MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, who had a long telephone talk with London from Lossiemouth, is returning to-day by train.

Sir Samuel Hoare, the Foreign Secretary, on his way from his country seat in Norfolk, was received by the King at Sandringham. Sir Samuel will meet Mr. Eden to-day.

The Cabinet will, among other matters, consider its previous decision to refuse licences for the export of arms to Italy or Abyssinia.

The Emperor of Abyssinia recently made a striking protest to the League of Nations against embargoes, which he contended, deprived his country of the means of defence while Italy went on making the utmost preparations for war.

MR. EDEN'S LONG TALK
It is not known whether they will be in consultation with other countries before Britain reviews its temporary decision.

Mr. Eden had a long talk with M. Laval, the French Premier, at the French Foreign Office yesterday. As soon as the British representative left, Baron Aloisi, Italy's spokesman, also called.

At the meeting between Mr. Eden and M. Laval it was agreed (says Reuter) that the two Governments must now devote unremitting attention to the preparation of the League Council meeting on September 4 at Geneva.

To that end they will keep in the closest touch through diplomatic channels.

"ABSOLUTELY CORRECT"

Mr. Eden also received M. Teclé Hawariat, the Ethiopian Minister, at the British Embassy, and explained to him in detail what had taken place at the tripartite conference "phone talks" by Ministers. M. Hawariat afterwards said, "Britain's attitude has been absolutely correct."

Sir Samuel Hoare, the Foreign Secretary, was in telephonic touch with Mr. Baldwin, who is on holiday at Aix-les-Bains, and with Mr. MacDonald, who, as Lord President of the Council, is the acting Prime Minister during Mr. Baldwin's absence.

According to a despatch to the "New York Times" (quoted by Reuter), Mr. Eden is reliably understood to have made an important statement during his call on Sunday on Mr. Theodore Mariner, United States Charge d'Affaires.

NO ONE WAS SURPRISED
Mr. Eden said, according to that source, that the British Government intended to propose to the United States that, if an African war breaks out, the United States and Great Britain should consult forthwith regarding the best course to take.

In authoritative quarters in Paris it was stated that the report is untrue. Mr. Eden did have a short interview with Mr. Mariner, and kept him informed of the developments in the situation.

At the actual failure of the talks in Paris, no one was surprised. Paris certainly expected it. So did London, Geneva, and Rome.

ITALY HAS NO REGRET
But Rome goes further than that, others and adds "no regret." Italy now appears determined to have:

1.-A campaign which includes a resounding victory which will wipe out the memory of the Adowa defeat; and

2.-Economic and political control backed by an army of occupation.

An invasion of Abyssinia in October is almost a foregone conclusion whatever Geneva or Britain may do (adds Reuter). Now it is regarded as certain that war will break out in October.

CHIEF GETS ARMS
One of the leading Abyssinian chiefs from Ogaden, the district facing Italian Somaliland, has just arrived at Dire Dawa to take delivery of a considerable quantity of arms and ammunition from Djibouti.

His followers number 2500. Their task will be to oppose the initial Italian advance over the Gerigub area.

A conference of the British Government officials was held at Hargeisa, British Somaliland, yesterday, to consider what measures must be taken in the event of war breaking out between Italy and Abyssinia.

FRONTIER CALM
Everything is calm on the Ethiopian-British Somaliland frontier. There is occasional cattle stealing, but relations between the two neighbours can be described as excellent.

British Somaliland, however, is taking the keenest interest in the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel. Its attitude appears to be strictly neutral. Very few arms are finding their way into Ethiopia from Hargeisa, despite the fact that a good road exists between Berbera, the British Somaliland port, and the frontier, in striking contrast to the road from the Ethiopian side of the frontier inland.

"UNJUSTIFIED AGGRESSION"
Colonel D. Reitz, South African Minister of Agriculture, in an interview with Reuter in Cape Town yesterday on his return from London, declared:

"My own feeling is that it is a pity, because it is going to upset relations between black and white throughout the world. This unjustified aggression by white against black must leave its mark. Mussolini cannot retract his steps. He is bound to go ahead, and will probably take Addis Ababa, but after that his real problems will begin."

THE COLLAPSE IN SILVER

U. S. Takes Millions Of Ounces

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21. The change in the American silver price during the past week gives sufficient cause to wonder exactly what the United States is trying to do with its Silver Buying Act. Last Monday saw the first break in the price for a month. Up to then, the American authorities, by absorbing all the silver offered in the market at 30 3-16d an ounce, had "pegged" the price at that level.

There had been plenty of silver for sale at 30 3-16d, owing to the enormous "bull" position that had been built up in the months previous when America, in settling down to its plan of raising the price of silver and accumulating the billions of ounces ordained by Congress, virtually invited all and sundry speculators to take a hand.

Up to April the pace was furious. In that month silver ran up to 26 1/2d per ounce, which represented a 50 per cent increase since the beginning of the year. Then the speculators realised that America had dropped out of the market. Subsequent profit-taking gathered force as selling limits were brought in. Some form of order was eventually restored when America took control and "pegged" the price, but there still remained an extensive "bull" position, the extent of which no one could calculate to be liquidated.

At 30 3-16d an ounce, America stood behind the market for a whole month ready to take all offerings, and there is more than a suspicion that, in addition to the genuine liquidation, certain interests were selling silver in the hope of getting it back later at a profit. Then last Monday, the "peg" was lowered to 29 15-16d per ounce. The definite move downward broke the morale of those who were still hanging on.

The market was flooded with silver and America made further reductions to 29d. On Wednesday alone it is calculated that the American authorities had to take 25,000,000 ounces of the metal. Rather than risk a collapse, the London bullion brokers twice delayed the market until business hours in America in order that the American authorities should see what selling pressure had to be faced, and make their decisions on the price level.

Where it is all going to lead to it is impossible to say. The American stock of silver is gradually rising towards the regulate bullion or so ounces, but for the meantime, that part of the plan which aimed at the raising of the price of silver and the purchasing power of the East is in abeyance. Possibly China's protest to America that the silver buying was destroying her economic balance has proved effective.

HOME NEWS

To fit the new Orient liner, the Orion, which sailed on her maiden voyage yesterday, with only one funnel was a bold experiment. The old-and mysterious preference for a ship with three or even four funnels still lingers in the minds of many travellers.

Probably it dates from the time when a ship big enough to have more than one smokestack was a novelty, and each additional funnel was held to indicate increased size, speed and safety.

With this in mind, perhaps, designers have frequently given liners dummy funnels.

As Smoking-rooms
The most recent example is the Normandie. The farthest aft of her three funnels is, as far as propulsion is concerned, superfluous. Instead, it contains the ventilating machinery and dog-kennels.

The Majestic has three funnels, of which only two serve their apparent purpose, while the Homeric has one dummy and one real funnel. Both these liners were built in Germany.

The only two British-built liners of the Cunard-White Star fleet with dummy funnels are the motor-ships Georgic and Britannic. Both have two short funnels; in the Britannic one contains the engineers' smoking-room, and in the Georgic the dummy funnel is shared between a smoking-room and wireless equipment.

THE ELGAR MEMORIAL IN WORCESTER CATHEDRAL

When the memorial window to Sir Edward Elgar in Worcester Cathedral is unveiled at the opening of the Three Choirs Festival next month, its dedication will be followed by a performance by the London Symphony Orchestra of a variation from the famous "Enigma" Suite.

The window is to be unveiled by Lord Cobham, Lord Lieutenant of Worcestershire, after special prayers have been offered by the Dean of Worcester (Dr. A. W. Davies). At the moment of unveiling members of the London Symphony Orchestra will play Beethoven's Equale for trombones.

NO MORE LADIES

"No More Ladies," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new Joan Crawford picture co-starring Robert Montgomery, is one of the finest pictures these two popular stars have ever made and will be screened at the Queen's Theatre this weekend. An uproarious comedy with strong underlying drama of the tactics used by a modern woman to hold the husband she loves, it was cleverly adapted from the Broadway stage hit by A. E. Thomas.

The featured cast is exceptionally brilliant, including Charlie Ruggles, Franchot Tone, Edna May Oliver, Gail Patrick and Reginald Denny. It would be a hair-splitting procedure to determine which turns in the most convincing characterization.

With an inspired wardrobe by Adrian and lavish backgrounds by Cedric Gibbons, Producer Irving Thalberg has framed his picture with characteristic originality and attention to detail. Edward H. Griffith's direction surpasses his customary high standard.

STAR THREATENED WITH DEATH

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21. Threats of death received by Miss Thelma Todd, blonde-haired star of American and British films, led to a raid by "G-men" in New York (reported Reuter yesterday). A man has been arrested.

He is Harry Schimansky, a New York apartment house commissioner, who has been charged with attempted extortion of $4000 from Miss Todd.

Thelma Todd's film career began after being elected "Miss Massachusetts" in a State competition. She appeared in many suc-

OUR LITTLE GIRL

Everybody's happy in the Shirley Temple home, or rather in the home where Shirley's the sensational but unspoiled baby.

The "six-year-old child star, whose next picture, "Our Little Girl" comes on Friday to the King's Theatre, is having a grand time at the Fox Film Movietone lot, and considers work as play.

The whole family is happy who wouldn't be under the circumstance? Mrs. Temple still belongs to the same organizations she did before Shirley became noted. She has the same good friends and neighbours. Daddy Temple still holds his job at the bank, where businesses is booming because of Shirley.

"Our Little Girl," an Edward Butcher production directed by John Robertson, is based on Florence Leighton Pfalzgraf's story, selected from hundreds. In this appealing picture, well heralded in advance reports from other cities, Shirley acts' and sings.

The supporting cast is made up of Rosemary Ames, Joel McCrea, Lyle Talbot, Erin O'Brien-Moore, Jack Donohue, Foodles Hanneford, Gus Van, Margaret Armstrong, Rita Owin, Leonard Carey, J. Farrell Macdonald and Jack Baxley.

AROUND THE COURTS

LANTAU MURDER CASE

Further evidence was taken by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday in the case of the five Chinese charged with the murder of one Au Man Fai of Lantau Island on September 2 last year.

Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith, Asst. Crown Solicitor, was in charge of the proceedings, and Detective Inspector A. H. Elston watched on behalf of the police.

Mr. G. H. Gandy of the P.W.D. stated that he was in the vicinity on the day in question aboard his yacht.

A woman and a man rowed out to his yacht to make a report. The woman held out her hands and showed her wrists, which in the opinion of witness suggested that they had been bound. He went ashore in his dinghy and the woman came along and took him into a hut situated at the east side of the Bay. There witness found the body of a man which was lying on its back in a cubicle at the back of the hut. The face was battered and could not be recognised. There was also a stab wound in the stomach.

Mr. Gandy then went on to say that the day was very hot and the body did seem fresh, but the marks on the woman's wrists may have been caused the night before.

WIDOW'S STORY

Yip Choi (widow of the deceased), the next witness, stated that she was the wife of the deceased Au Man Fai and lived with her husband at the time he was murdered. She and her husband had gone there three years ago. They rented land from the Crown and erected their own thatched house. She said that her son was about to be married and they had a certain amount of money in the house to meet the wedding expenses.

On the evening that her husband was murdered, Ho Wah (second defendant), Chang Ngan, Li Tong Kwai and Ah Chuk came to visit them. After they had finished their evening meal her husband retired into his hut to go to bed, and Tong Kwai followed him. She was seated outside her hut.

Then she heard the second defendant shout, and ten men came up from behind the hut. A number of men then set upon her husband and began to assault him. She could recognise the man who came down the hill and knew their names.

She was unable to move as she had been told that if she did so they would kill her. Her son was taken away and she did not see him again that night. Her husband was dragged out of her sight. All the men who were there carried poles and other instruments.

At this stage the case was adjourned till to-day.

HARBOURING CHARGE

Charged before Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday with harbouring an unmarried girl, Lau Mei Sin aged 18, between August 13 and 24, a married man named Cheng Lok Ming, 28, of No. 2 Mongkok Road second floor was sentenced to six months' hard labour.

For the prosecution Detective Sgt. Allen stated that on August 27 a report was made by the girl's mother of her absence and on the 31st she returned again to the Mongkok Police Station and intimated that the defendant, who was suspected was about to go to Canton. He was arrested on the Tin Yat and as a result of enquiries it was found that the defendant lived at the same address where the complainant was the principal tenant.

On the 13th or 14th defendant took the girl to the Chung Ah boarding house on the pretence of looking for a friend. They stayed there until 5 p.m. and left. On the 23rd, defendant together with the girl and another girl went to the Nathan Hotel and whilst there he asked the second girl whether she would like to go to Canton for a job but she refused and left at 6 p.m. leaving the two alone.

Four days later, defendant made arrangements and took the girl to Canton where she lived with his relatives. Before coming back to Hong Kong defendant told the girl he would return for her on Saturday. Defendant's wife was sent to Canton yesterday to bring the girl back.

The prosecution alleged that defendant and his wife were not on good terms and apparently he wanted to leave her.

MUI TSAI CASES

Two Chinese married women were summoned before Mr. W. Schofield yesterday with breaches of the Mui Tsai Ordinance.

Ng Tze-siu, married woman, 39, Pokfulam Road, second floor, was summoned for failing to report the intended removal of a registered "mui-tsai," named Ho Sul-lin, aged 18, from the Colony. Defendant pleaded guilty. Inspector O'Connor, Inspector of Mui-Tsai, stated the girl was away at Macao for four days. She was well treated by the defendant. A fine of $5 was imposed.

Yu Siu-sang, 39, married woman, of 18 Tin Lok Lane, was summoned for failing to register her "mui-tsai," Yu Shun-yung, 17. Defendant pleaded not guilty, stating the girl was the daughter of her sister-in-law and not her "mui-tsai."

Inspector O'Connor stated the girl was presented by her mother to the defendant for $30 two years ago.

The hearing was adjourned.

ASSAULT CASE

Mr. R. H. Cole of Messrs. Hall Brutton and Company appeared for Mrs. Alina Rocha of 169 Sai Yeung Choi Street, first floor in a summons against Mrs. Marie Soldina, of No. 8 York Road, Kowloon Tong, alleging that she was assaulted by her on the Star Ferry on August 23. Mr. W. M. Thomson who heard the case at the Kowloon Magistracy adjourned the case sine die owing to the absence of the defendant who was represented by Mr. J. M. D'A'mada Remedios.

Mr. Remedios informed His Worship that his client had this morning sailed for Japan and that he understood that she would be returning by the end of this month.

The prosecution made an application for the withdrawal of the summons and stated that they wished to take civil action to claim compensation for damage done, such as damage to clothing and doctors' fees.

The Magistrate reserved his decision and adjourned the case "sine die."

WANCHAI NUISANCE

Chan Yee, 38, widow and Chan Yau, 40 unemployed were yesterday discharged with a caution by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday when charged with assaulting P.C. C467, Mak Fu of the Hong Kong Police.

The defendants pleaded that they did not know that they did not know that he complainant was a constable and Inspector Logan who prosecuted stated that there might have been a misunderstanding as the constable was in plain clothes at the time.

As a sequel to this case, seven Chinese, six men and a woman, were charged with causing obstruction on the roadway outside the Wanchai Police Station on Tuesday. They all denied the charge.

Inspector Logan stated that a crowd of several hundreds gathered outside the station following the arrest of the two defendants in the previous case. After repeated warnings a section of the crowd moved away but the majority stayed. Inspector Logan and three Indian policemen then arrested the seven defendants.

"It is a nightly occurrence at Wanchai and it is getting serious," remarked Inspector Logan. "We have to take steps to stop it. The trouble is that you can see right into the charge room from the street."

The defendants were remanded until to-day when the case will be heard. Bail of $5 each was allowed.

Chang Yee, aged 31, unemployed, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday with the possession of a piece of cloth at Connaught Road, near Hillier Street, valued at $2. Defendant gave a rambling story and said that he had picked it up. He was sentenced to three weeks' hard labour. Sub-Inspector J. Walsh prosecuted.

The San 30 was sentenced to nine months' hard labour by Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday when he pleaded guilty to returning to the Colony before his term of banishment had expired. Defendant was deported on December 11 last for ten years.

MORE UNSTAMPED RECEIPTS

Sergeant J. G. Whitcroft of the Treasury Department prosecuted several Chinese before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday for issuing unstamped receipts and of splitting accounts.

Summoned in respect of an unstamped receipt for the sum of $95.11, Yue Tak, of 31 Gilman Bazaar, was fined $10, as was Yue Sang Loong, of 88 Connaught Road West, regarding an unstamped receipt for $98.24.

A similar fine was imposed on Li Sap Yat, of 163 Queen's Road Central, on a summons of a similar nature in respect of $24.60.

Wong Ping-hang, of 25 Chiu Lung Street, was fined $10 for having an unstamped rent receipt for $50.

Ma Po-shan, of 293 Des Voeux Road Central, was fined $5 for having an improperly stamped receipt for $130.98.

Fines totalling $40 were imposed on the Tai Hing shop, 141 Des Voeux Road West, for splitting accounts for $35.47 and $32.26.

Leung Tat-hing, 1, Jubilee Street, was fined $20 for splitting an account for $34.08.

SLANDER ACTION

Damages of $250 and costs were awarded to Cheng Ah Tai alias Mrs. Lee Yau by His Honour the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice Lindell at the Supreme Court yesterday. This was a sequel to the Tai Po Slander case in which the complainant claimed $1,000 damages for remarks alleged to have been passed at her wedding ceremony.

Lee Sang the first defendant was dismissed while Lee Kwai Sang the second defendant was ordered to pay the damages and costs.

It was at her wedding on March 14 that the two men were alleged to have uttered such remarks as she was pregnant, and unworthy to be the bride of the prospective husband.

After giving judgment for the first defendant, Mr. Justice Lindell, Puisne Judge, said he was satisfied that the second defendant made the remark attributed to him, that plaintiff was a pregnant woman.

Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for defendants and Mr. H. L. Denny, of Denny's and Co., represented plaintiff.

Should Women dread the approach of a perfectly natural event?

NATURE never intended you to suffer unduly. Why is it then that so many thousands of women experience such pain and weakness.

Simply because there is a shortage of vital minerals in the body.

That is the reply, supported by the best medical opinion. Calcium is the vital food of every body cell, and any shortage hinders the correct performance of all bodily functions, particularly those of women.

The use of Kalzana, the mineral food, for a few weeks provides the whole system with the indispensable minerals needed to establish that care-free, vigorous health that Nature intended you to enjoy.

But it must be Kalzana, as only in this scientific form (a combination of sodium-lactate and calcium-lactate) will the mineral salts be taken up and retained by your body.

Loose your dread—re-establish the functions on a normal basis by starting a course of Kalzana to-day.

BRIBERY CONVICTION QUASHED

Sanitary Interpreter Freed

An appeal brought by Mr. H. C. Macnamara, who was instructed by Mr. M. K. Lo on behalf of Cheng King U, an interpreter of the Sanitary Department for the quashing of the conviction of the defendant when he was found guilty by a jury and sentenced to 18 months' hard labour at the last Criminal Sessions on a charge of having accepted a bribe of $50 was successfully upheld by the full court composed of the Chief Justice, Sir Athol MacGregor, and Mr. Justice J. J. Hayden at the Supreme Court yesterday and the defendant was set free.

Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith, Assistant Crown Solicitor appeared for the respondent—the Crown.

Recalling the facts of the case, Mr. Macnamara said his client had been convicted of bribery. There were actually two witnesses against him, one of whom said he offered the bribe and the other testified that he acted as interpreter in the transaction. These two witnesses gave evidence for the Crown and they contradicted each other on several points, one of which was the actual date on which the bribe was alleged to have been offered and accepted.

Counsel then went on to emphasise the necessity for corroboration in a case of this kind. There was no corroboration, he said, in the evidence given for the Crown, while, on the other hand, the defence had brought three respectable persons to prove that the appellant was away at the time when the incident was alleged to have happened.

The legal argument was whether the two witnesses were accomplices or not in the sense that their evidence required corroboration. The trial judge (Mr. Justice Lindell) did not direct the jury on this point but what he said in his summing-up was: "The case which the defence has quoted is in their favour. The case which the Crown has put forward is in their own favour. I hold, though not without considerable doubt that the Crown witnesses are not accomplices."

DOUBT

Counsel submitted that when a judge had considerable doubt, he should have given it in favour of the defence. But in this case it was exactly the opposite. Furthermore, the principal witness who said he offered the bribe could have been charged under the same indictment together with the appellant, as the law had stated that a giver or an acceptor of a bribe were equally guilty. A person who gave a bribe was just as bad as the one who accepted it. A case of this kind, unless it was carefully dealt with, might give rise to serious injustice.

In the present case the appellant had not had a trial according to the rules laid down, and therefore the conviction should be quashed.

Replying for the Crown, Mr. Lockhart-Smith contended that the general practice was that before the two witnesses could be regarded as accomplices. It must be shown that they were liable to be indicted either together with the appellant or separately for the same offence with which the appellant was charged. He submitted that the two witnesses were not accomplices and could not therefore stand in the dock with the appellant on the same charge. The principal witness was threatened into offering the bribe and there was no evidence to show that he offered it voluntarily.

BEING ACCOMPLICES

Mr. Macnamara said that what appellant objected to was that though they raised at the trial the point about the two witnesses being accomplices, and though the prosecution strenuously objected to it, the trial judge made no reference to the point in his summing-up. In case either of the two witnesses was an accomplice, a warning should have been given. The defence maintained that both of them—at least certainly one of them—was an accomplice, and the jury should have been told that, in this event, their evidence required corroboration.

THE DECISION

The Chief Justice, in giving the decision of the Court, said that leaving out certain purely formal evidence it would appear from the learned trial judge's notes—and it had not been disputed by either counsel—that the only evidence against the appellant was that of the two witnesses, Mr. Shing, who admittedly found the money which formed the bribe, and the witness, Shu Shuk-shui, who acted as interpreter.

The appellant based his case on two grounds: (1) that the trial judge was wrong in holding that neither of the two witnesses was an accomplice and accordingly that their evidence would require corroboration; (2) that the trial judge mis-directed the jury in that he did not give them any warning against accepting their evidence without corroboration.

The position of the two witnesses was a little difficult. After dealing with the definition of an accomplice, His Lordship said that in his view the nexus between persons in an action such as this was nowhere closer than in the case of a bribe: it was closer than in a case of incest on which authorities had been quoted. The actions of the giver and taker of a bribe were essential for the complete constitution of the offence of bribery and he came to the conclusion that Mr. Shing clearly was an accomplice with appellant in this case.

NO DIRECTION

If therefore followed that it was the duty of the trial judge to direct the jury in that sense, but nowhere in his summing-up was there any such direction.

Strictly, it was unnecessary for the Court to consider the case of Shu Shuk-shui, but he was present during all the negotiations and was admittedly the channel through which money passed. His was essentially a case in which the words of the Lord Chief Justice in King versus Cratchley clearly applied. "There was evidence that he had guilty knowledge which was fit to be felt to the jury because in the case of such evidence it is for the jury to say whether or not he had such guilty knowledge."

Concluding, the Chief Justice said, "The present summing-up is unsatisfactory and the conviction cannot stand. It will be necessary for us to consider whether or not this is a proper case in which to order a new trial."

Mr. Justice Hayden expressed his concurrence with the Chief Justice.

Mr. Macnamara, addressing the Court on the question of a retrial, suggested that if one were ordered, it would place the Court in the position of quashing the conviction again.

The Chief Justice, with the concurrence of Mr. Justice Hayden, quashed the conviction and made no order for a retrial. He also thanked both parties for their researches into the legal aspects of the case.

AWKWARD JUBILEE STAMPS

Sir Ernest Bennett, Assistant Postmaster-General, replying in the House of Commons to Sir Percy Hurd, who asked when the issue of Jubilee postage stamps would cease, in view of the awkward form of these stamps said it was anticipated that the stock of Jubilee stamps would be exhausted shortly.

CLIO'S AIDE-DE-CAMP

The screen, it is often said, will be invaluable in teaching history. I have just heard two George Arliss stories which may have some bearing on this point, writes a correspondent.

A Liverpool master asked, "What was the Duke of Wellington called before he was made a duke?" And a small boy promptly replied: "George Arliss, sir."

A little girl said that Darsell was a great English statesman who went into the movies, and a New Zealand schoolboy, asked who purchased the Shenz Canai shares for Britain, replied: "a certain film and declared with perfect confidence: "Mr. Arliss."

Oh how I love my dear Papa.
He very often comes home tight
And starts a little family fight.

Twinkle Twinkle Little Star
I hope Pa's at the clubhouse

For if he is, and there's no buts
He's sure to bring us salted nuts.

Twinkle Twinkle Little Star
I hear my Pa's shouts from afar,
He shouts with merry voice of joy
A thing that sounds like "attaboy!"

Twinkle Twinkle Little Star
Pa's coming up the stairs, he is.
He steps up one and drops back two
I think he's full of "Barley Brew."

Twinkle Twinkle Little Star
Papa wonders where you are
He's searching for you full of trouble
I think my Pa is seeing double.

MOTOR ACCIDENT

Old Man Injured

An Austin Car, No. 4551 driven by Tsang Pei Lai and an Erskine car No. 1018 driven by Miss Maureen Moir of Talkoo Docks were involved in a collision at the Junction of Percival Street and Hennessy Road at about 4.45 p.m. yesterday.

It appears that while car No. 4551 was just crossing Percival Street from East to West car No. 1018 which was travelling along Hennessy Road in a westerly direction hit the Austin as it was about to enter Percival Street on the West side. It was hit broadside on the rear left heel by the Erskine the impact of which completely overturned the Austin car.

An old man, 63 years of age, named Lee Sau Lam, residing at No. 5 Percival Street, first floor was thrown about the car and received abrasions about the face and forehead. The other occupants of the car were the son and the driver and both escaped with shocks.

The Austin car was damaged on the left side, most of the plate glass being shattered while the Erskine car suffered slight damage and was able to proceed later. Miss Moir was unhurt.

BANK OF CANTON CLOSE DOOR

Repercussion Felt

Repercussion to the sensational closing of the Bank of Canton, Ltd., was felt by the Industrial and Commercial Bank, Ltd., early yesterday morning, when a small run was commented by depositors anxious to withdraw their savings.

The Industrial and Commercial Bank presented a busy scene when a "Daily Press" representative called round, but in a statement granted by an official it was said that no calamity was being caused. They had ample reserves to draw upon, and the management felt no cause for alarm whatsoever.

The action of some of the depositors to become panicky was not an unnatural reaction, since it was quite a natural sequence to the logical effect produced by the closure of the Bank next door.

Questioned about the exact extent of the run, the official said that it was not very large and all calls were being met with confidence. A sum of approximately $30,000 had been withdrawn. This only represented a very small amount as compared to what the bank has deposited in their vaults. "We can guarantee to meet all demands, and we are able to pay in full," said Mr. M. K. Wong, the Secretary.

The position of the bank, added Mr. Wong was very sound and he felt sure that business would resume normal proportions as soon as the effect of the others' closure had worn off.

BANK CLOSURE

The real reason why the Bank of Canton, Ltd. has been forced to display a notice reading that

"The bank temporarily suspends payments pending reorganisation" is because over $10,000,000 which represented capital invested by overseas Chinese, had been withdrawn as a direct result of depression and unemployment overseas, it was stated yesterday.

A large crowd of people were to be seen all morning and most of the afternoon yesterday at the door of the closed premises, some even going round to the back of the building whilst others peeped in all the windows bordering the lane on one side.

In an interview Mr. Li-Tsze Chung, manager and cashier of the Bank said "Many of the Chinese overseas have lost their employment, due to the depression and as a result their deposits in Hong Kong and China have been withdrawn. This is also due to the unfavourable exchange. They have withdrawn their deposits in the main because they have families to support."

"Due to the unemployment and the exchange, the money withdrawn is greater than the deposits; also there has been some excitement among the depositors in general."

The Directors of the Bank had tried their utmost, said Mr. Li to save the difficult situation, but outflow of money had been so great that it was found impossible. A meeting of the Board of Directors was held on Tuesday, when certain schemes outlined will be presented at a later meeting of the creditors of the bank, and pending their decision nothing could be done at present.

NO TIME LIMIT

No definite time limit could be stated by Mr. Li before the Bank resumed normal business. "We cannot tell for how long we will suspend payment."

It was not denied that there had been a run on the bank. A forecast of the state of affairs existing was given in the share-market last week, when shares of the bank which were nominally $10.00 each were being offered on the market for $2.50, and unofficially it was learned that some changed hands at a considerably lower price.

THE BANK'S CAREER

The Bank was established in 1912, and has branches at Canton, Tientsin, Shanghai, Hankow, Bangkok and San Francisco. It has an authorised capital of 275,000 shares at $40.00 each which represents $11,000,000.00 and a subscribed and fully paid-up capital of 216,640 shares at $40.00 each which represents $8,665,600.00.

Comparative figures obtained from the bank's statement of accounts for the whole year's working in 1933, and 1934, make interesting reading.

Deposits in December, 1933, totalled $31,690,063.84 while safe deposits (box holders, etc.) totalled $50,423.65.

For December, 1934, the report issued at the 24th Ordinary An-

THE CHINESE CHAMBER

Monthly Committee Meeting

The monthly committee meeting of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce was held at the Chamber's Headquarters yesterday afternoon, when the chairman, Mr. Wong Kwong Tin, presided. He was supported by Mr. Au Chak Sum, Hon. Treasurer, and Mr. Chan Ping Au, Hon. Secretary.

Other members present at the meeting included Messrs. Tang Shiu Kin, Mok Koa Sang, Lui Yam Shoen, Chiu Chiu Fan, Yung Koon Man, Kwong Shiu Ying, Wong Luen Fook, Kwok Tsan, Kwan Nan Pak, Ko Chung Nam, Tang Chi Cheong, Chiu Chan Yue, Lip Yung Ting, Li Sau Nam, So Chiu Yue, Cheuk Sang, Chow Sing Chi, Yeung Shu Cheong, Ho Kan Chow, Tang Yuk Tong, Li Chor San, Li Yiu Tong, Lau King Ching, Chan Kim Tong, Chan Tat Sam, Wong Chung Hin, Cheung Lan Chow, Dr. Li Ping Sum and others.

AGENTS WANTED

After reading all the correspondence and reviewing the business matters of the last month, the Secretary told the meeting that, during the last month, the Chamber had received many letters from the different firms and manufacturers in Siam, India, New Jersey (North America) and Osaka (Japan), applying for recommendations for reliable local Chinese agents and representatives for their products. He added that replies to the above mentioned requests had already been sent.

CROWN RENT

With reference to the letters sent by the owners of the ship-building yards and timber merchants at Cheung Sha Wan, Kowloon, requesting the Chamber to forward their petition to the local Government asking for the reduction of Crown Rent, on account of trade depression, it was decided by the Executive Committee that their petition should first be translated into English before sending it to the Secretary for Chinese Affairs for consideration.

CHAMBER'S CONTRIBUTION

Regarding the letter sent by the Hong Kong Travel Association, requesting the Chamber to give their support in making the business in the Colony prosperous, it was unanimously decided that the Chamber should contribute a sum of $1,000.00 as requested.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the Secretary announced that during the last few weeks, eight new members from the different firms and manufacturers had applied to the Chamber for membership. The applications were passed unanimously by those who were present.

REINCARNATED AS BABY

The search for Tibet's new Dalai Lama, all-powerful ruler of millions of people, has officially begun.

According to age-old belief, the reincarnated soul of the late Dalai Lama, who died in December, 1933, must by now have entered the body of a baby, who must be found so that it may assume the spiritual leadership of the country.

A mission composed of leading monks accompanied by four soothsayers recently left Lhasa for the holy Kail Lake. They expect to see the baby's present home mirrored in the waters.

Annual General Meeting held on April 25, this year revealed that the deposits only totalled $16,284,341.84. The safe deposits (box holders, etc.) came to $51,891,551.

The cash in hand and at the bankers (1933) was $6,835,724.28 while in 1934, it totalled $2,142,270.09. Bullion and foreign coins in hand in 1933 totalled $321,700.68, and in 1934, $3,205.41.

There are 15 directors of the bank registered at the Registrar of Companies at the Supreme Court, included amongst them being: Messrs. Li Yuk Tong (chairman), J. M. Wong and Look Fong Shan.

PANIC IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Sept. 4. Depositors numbering over fifty are completely panic-stricken and are besieging the Bank of Canton. Due to a crowd which is rapidly growing, and also fearing disturbances, special police guards have been despatched to the scene.

RECOVERING AN ART.

Film production in England was despaired of as a departed industry and a lost art for several years following the War and while we were acting the long European drama, America had seemingly reduced us to the role of supers on the screen, and when a British picture was sandwiched into the programme, its apologetic technique quite cancelled the audience's native good will. The story of Great Britain's struggle once more to be a power in the shadowy world of films is arduous and sordid with disappointments and mistakes; what really matters is that with astonishing resilience, it has succeeded. Next year, it has been stated, if only one quarter of the schemes for new studios in the London neighbourhood mature, the accommodation for producers will be enlarged by a third. It is a well-known fact that America's big advantage laid in the ease with which her most lavish enterprises were financed, for always Big Business has been flattered to meet the latest Hollywood whim. Things in Britain have progressed so far that now, although the City is not likely to overload the industry, London's business man and insurance companies are showing more disposition to offer their purse. With a score of film projects checked for lack of a stage, there would appear to be little or no risk in advancing funds, and the cinema is a form of investment which brings something above the immediate return.

One trusted American saying is "Trade follows the film," while they have another which is to the effect that for every foot of film shown abroad a dollar's worth of trade is booked at home. Not only is the cinema a nation's best form of "display advertising" but it also has a subtle, indirect persuasion and "pulling power."

The British film, now preferred by the well-versed public at home is making headway in formerly impregnable markets elsewhere. It was only just recently that the manager of the world's largest cinema in New York booked in advance the complete list of sixteen productions which one British firm contemplates for the foreign trade in 1935. The order was a tribute to the determination British studios have at last gained to make pictures which do not tell in the wake of other people's ideas, but which represent subjects which are frankly and naturally British, who have a point of view, a history and a culture about which the world is not incurious, and to succeed the British must continue to develop the newest of arts in their own way.

The President of the Disarmament Conference Mr. Arthur Henderson has revoked the meeting of the bureau on Wednesday, which had been summoned for the first week of the League of Nations session, according to a report issued by the League Secretariat.

Mr. Henderson had been persuaded apparently by the other members of the bureau that in view of the Abyssinian question and the general situation as regards disarmament, a meeting of the bureau, would be of little practical use.

British Wireless

YEARLY TERROR IN FLORIDA

Hurricane Takes Heavy Toll

Miami, Sept. 4.
A search party at Florida Keys has wireless that the latest estimate of the dead as a result of the hurricane is between 400 and 500.

The whole of the harbour and fishing settlement has been wiped out, as well as thirty miles of railway track. A special train containing 600 ex-servicemen engaged in road building are marooned seventy miles to the south of Miami. Owing to the destruction of bridges, the wind has reached a velocity of a hundred miles an hour.

Meanwhile an order has been sent by President Roosevelt to the Army, Navy and Red Cross to render all aid to the sufferers in the disaster.

The hurricane, which is Florida's yearly terror, appears to have struck with frightful severity at Keys as well as elsewhere. Fears increase hourly that a terrific death toll may be revealed when the rescuers ultimately penetrate the devastated areas.

Most of the damage appears to have occurred at Keys where survivors report that walls of water fifteen feet high continuously pounded the little islands. Hurricane warnings are flying to Florida.

Ships are keeping their port windows boarded up. The hurricane, if it keeps on its present course, is likely to roar in from the Gulf and strike Georgia.

Veteran survivors from Matcumbekey state that every building has been crushed like a matchbox as a wall of water surged across the island washing victims to the sea. The wind ripped the people's clothing to shreds.

EARLY REPORT
Jacksonville, Sept. 3.

Seventy-five men have lost their lives and forty-seven have been injured in a hurricane which struck with suddenness and fury to-day.

The casualties were suffered in the War Veterans relief camp on the islands near Key West, where evacuation was commenced yesterday when reports of the nearness of the storm were first received.

Motorboats are rushing to the camp from the United States Naval Station at Key West, taking aid to the survivors of the disaster, who are without food or water and who may be beyond the reach of assistance for some time yet. The weather is still very heavy and the task of the relief boats a hazardous one.

SHIP'S DANGER
Notwithstanding the mountainous seas which are running off the coast, the steamers Limon, Reaper and Platano have fought their way to a point off the reef where the passenger vessel, Dixie, lies stranded, pounded severely by the combers.

They are standing by the apparently doomed ship but have been unable to attempt to transfer the Dixie's passengers. They must wait for the storm to subside.

The Dixie went ashore in the path of the hurricane which did so much damage near Key West, and her wireless was put out of commission soon after she called for immediate assistance. She had aboard 235 passengers and a crew of 118.

Coast Guard cutters are fighting their way towards her. The ship is pounding heavily on the reef, on the southern tip of Florida.

SINGAPORE'S STARVING PEOPLE

Letter To The Press

The fact that there are many English-speaking men and their families on the verge of starvation is revealed in the following letter to the editor written by Mr. John Laycock, says the "Singapore Free Press."

Pending the adequate functioning of the Singapore Silver Jubilee Fund Mr. Laycock urges a public appeal for the immediate relief of the distressed and suggests that money be sent to the Singapore Rotary Club Fund for this purpose, to be distributed by the Salvation Army. Mr. Laycock writes as follows:

Sir,—On Aug. 19 I received a petition signed by 51 persons. All the signatures were in English and by the looks of it they are practically all Straitsborn people. They say they are all family men, some with as many as eight to ten dependents to care for. They state that they represent the most pitiful cases of local unemployment. I am prepared to believe that, generally speaking, this is a true statement. They say they are utterly destitute. They have often to go starving and they are in constant fear of being turned out on to the street for arrears of rent. They write to me to ask if I can find any means of helping them to get some temporary relief, hoping that at some future time when the Silver Jubilee Fund starts to function it will come to their assistance.

$100 PER MONTH
The only fund now available for people such as these unfortunate petitioners is the Rotary Club Unemployment Fund. That fund comes to somewhere round about $100 per month. Of course this is not the only charitable purpose which the Rotary Club assists and, after all, the Rotary Club members are only few in number. It is a sad thing to think that the only fund for the relief of real distress at present comes from the pockets of some 100 men who meet once a week at tiffin. Even so, the efforts of the Rotary Club seem small, yet it cannot be expected that the Rotary Club should take on its shoulders the whole of the town's burden in the way of relief for unemployment and distress.

Now, sir, it is no use referring to the Silver Jubilee Fund and vituperating the people of Singapore for not subscribing more freely. It must be recognised that this fund is not popular. There are, no doubt, reasons for this. In any case, the present point is that funds are wanted immediately for the immediate relief of distress. The Silver Jubilee Fund is not yet in operation and will not for some time produce any income available for distribution and for relief.

NO DISCRIMINATION
I ask, therefore, whether you will not make, or join in making, an appeal to the public to raise funds for the immediate relief of the distressed. For such a purpose there is no need to create any new organisation. The Rotary Club Fund, small as it is, is administered by the Salvation Army. There could be no better administration; no racial, religious or denominational discrimination of any kind is permitted and all cases are dealt with on their merits.

On receiving the petition I asked the honorary secretary of the Singapore Rotary Club to send it to the Salvation Army for their views and they have returned it with their comments. They state that so far 227 cases have appealed to them for relief from the Rotary Club ever since this fund was administered by the Salvation Army. The petition sent to me gives the names of 35 additional cases who have not previously appeared on their list, making a total of 262 cases.

Taking the first 200 cases as a basis of calculation, the rent bill per month for 200 cases is $948. These first 200 cases dealt with by the Salvation Army represent 770 individuals. If 15 cents per head per day were allowed for the maintenance of these people, $3,465 would be required per month. It is quite possible (says Brigadier Lord) that the figures thus given, which are gross, "may be subject to reduction on investigation."

NOT EXTRAVAGANT

When I look at the figures as given by Brigadier Lord I cannot say that they are extravagant. They represent a rent bill of less than $5 per month for a family and a food bill at 15 cents per day per head. This seems to me to come pretty near the starvation level anyway. I spend more on my dogs—there are, of course, other sources of help. The Catholic Church helps in certain cases; the Protestant Church of England as funds permit; other denominations help members as able; and the Children's Aid Societies do their best. Some cases have been disposed of by the Destitute Strangers' Aid Fund. Brigadier Lord points out that, as much as possible, applicants are referred to other funds where the conditions governing such funds appear to be fulfilled.

A MORAL DUTY

When all that is said and done, this town has a moral duty to see that its people are not allowed to die of starvation and want. It has moral duty to itself to see that some relief is given in cases of this nature. Will not you make an appeal to the public to put up some funds for the immediate relief of unemployment and distress, let us say to cover the period of the next 12 months? In England, newspapers raise funds in this way for far less deserving objects. If all the local newspapers will start this appeal, I cannot think that the well springs of charity will prove to have dried up completely. The same charitable hearted people who put up $330,000 in March for the maintenance of the University in Amoy cannot refuse a poor little dole for workers now starving in Singapore. I think the position only need be put before them for them to recognise the obligation.

I will send you later the petition received by me and the report of the Salvation Army thereon, so that you can see for yourself the position.—Yours, etc.,
J. LAYCOCK.
Singapore, Aug. 29.

LAVAL AND EDEN IN CONFERENCE

Private Session Before Public Meeting

OFFENSIVE MAY BEGIN ON SEPTEMBER 15

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, September 4, 7.30 p.m.)

Geneva, September 4. The tension here which has been at fever heat for the last few days was relaxed to a certain extent by the news of the withdrawal of the Abyssinian oil concession. It is hoped that this will clear the atmosphere for diplomatic discussions, which have already begun.

No agreement, however, has even yet been reached as to the procedure to be adopted at the session this afternoon. This was the subject of a long conversation between M. Laval and Mr. Eden this morning when the question was discussed whether France and Britain should each present a separate report on the abortive Three-Power Abyssinian conference held in Paris or whether a joint report in the name of both countries should be read.

The third possibility now being weighed, it is understood, is that a joint written report be submitted on which M. Laval and Mr. Eden should each make commentaries.

Whether the public session will be held to-day is extremely doubtful. A secret session begins at 4 p.m. and will probably last a long time. It depends therefore on the result and duration of this session whether the public session can follow.

ITALY ORDERS TANKS

Paris, Sept. 4.

Italy has given an order to the well-known French automobile Renault factory, for three hundred and twenty-five tanks, deliveries of which are to commence on October 1, according to a statement in "Humanite," which, however, is as yet unconfirmed.

A number of Italian personages were recently conducted around the Renault works by the Marine Minister, M. Pietry, declares the paper, and the order was placed on the conclusion of this visit of inspection.

The "Humanite" recalls in this connection the recent visit of the Italian ex-minister Balbo, who said that they had conferred with the French Ministers regarding the deliveries of war materials and placed orders for airplanes.

CHINA ART TREASURES

Packers Arrive In London

London, Sept. 4.

Four Chinese packers have arrived to unpack the art treasures in the vaults at Burlington House for the Chinese exhibition in November. They are lodged under the care of the Chinese Embassy, sightseeing London while awaiting Dr. Chen Fai Ting, the Chinese Government Commissioner for the exhibition. At present he is in Copenhagen, partaking at the international conference on Criminal Law and is due in London on September 8. He awaits the return of Sir William Llewellyn due from holiday next week. Then they will jointly superintend the unpacking and arranging of the treasures.

The report that the Japanese Emperor has consented to lend Chinese art treasures greatly excites artistic circles. It is believed these are likely to include the Tang dynasty specimens. Even Tang pictures, otherwise non-existent were brought to Kyoto in the eighth century when Japanese students flocked to China to study all the culture of China's august age.

Mr. Quo Tai Chi will go to the Geneva meeting assembly on September 9 when the scheme of giving China a place in the League Council is due to be produced. Chinese circles are apprehensive that the Italo-Abyssinian crisis may hold up the project.

LEGAL DECISION

Paris, Sept. 3.

The Italo-Ethiopian Arbitration Commission has decided that no responsibility of any kind, either moral or pecuniary, attaches to either Italy or Ethiopia in the Ualual incident or in subsequent events.

It is understood that the Arbitration Commission's unexpected conciliatory and non-compromittal decision was reached because the arbitrators reasoned that the League Council's decision of August 3 ruled out the Commission's purview on the question of ownership of Ualual, making it virtually impossible to give a legal decision.

The Commission accordingly decided to deal with the question on a basis of examination of facts which is difficult nine months after the event.

Considering that the Italians at Ualual are acting colonially and the Ethiopians nationally, the Commission found it was unable to impute the blame to Ethiopia.

The decision is regarded here as clearing the horizon of a troublesome incident and tending to facilitate a peaceful solution of the Italo-Abyssinian problem.

AMERICAN COMPANY TO WITHDRAW

Abyssinia Oil Concession Tension Relaxed

Relief is felt at the latest development in the Abyssinian oil concession which threatened to complicate the already delicate situation in Italy's dispute.

It has been disclosed that the concession has been granted to a purely American company and after negotiations with the State Department in Washington the concession holders decided to cancel the arrangement.

This decision has relieved the tension at the opening of the League Council meeting and it is felt that the attitude of the British and American Governments has virtually put an end to the controversy.

TO BE CANCELLED?

Washington, Sept. 3.

If what the State Department says is true, the fear of complications arising out of the letting of a concession in oil and mineral production in Ethiopia to an American company is no longer serious. The State Department says the concession is to be cancelled.

It was reported Saturday that Mr. F. M. Rickett, a British agent of big oil interests, had procured a concession from the Emperor of Abyssinia which was worth an immense amount of money. British and American capital was said to be involved, and it was expected that Italy would be gravely disturbed by the development.

Yesterday, at Djibouti, Mr. Rickett denied that the British investors had any money in the venture. It was purely American, he said. Meanwhile, the Foreign Office had denied all official knowledge of the concession, and Washington, too, had declared that it had no hand in obtaining the contract.

Washington, Sept. 3.

The Ethiopian concession to the African Exploration and Development Company will play no part whatever in the United States attitude towards the Italo-Abyssinian situation, announced Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, when questioned to-day.

Whatever the nature of the transaction may prove to be, either commercially or politically, the Government's policy towards the controversy would be maintained hereafter just as it would have been maintained had the concession not been arranged.

He reiterated that the concession was negotiated without Government cognizance.

COMPANY WITHDRAWS

Washington, Sept. 3.

Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, announced to-day that as a result of conversations he had had with officials of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company they had declared they would withdraw from the concession agreement with Ethiopia.

Reuter.

FORMAL STATEMENT

Washington, Sept. 3.

A formal statement was issued by Mr. Cordell Hull later. He said Mr. H. D. Dumas, vice-President, and Mr. George Walden, chairman of the Standard Vacuum Oil Company (not the Socony Company as originally reported) called to tell him that their company owned the concession granted to the African Exploration and Development Co., which was a subsidiary of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., and that they wished the State Department's advice upon the situation.

Mr. Hull informed them that the granting of the concession had caused a great deal of embarrassment not only to the United States Government but to others who were making strenuous and sincere efforts to preserve peace.

In the circumstances the Government believed it was highly desirable that steps be taken as soon as possible to terminate the concession.

Later Mr. Dumas and Mrs. Walden informed Mr. Hull that the company had decided to withdraw from the concession.

NO CHANGE

Addis Ababa, Sept. 3.

The Government is not disposed to change its attitude regarding the concession awards, affirms an official communiqué. It acted within its full sovereign rights in granting the concession, a concession of an exclusively economic character designed to assist in the development of the country.

With regard to the suggestion that the concession is contrary to the Treaty of 1908, the communiqué says Ethiopia did not become a party to that treaty while the British Government which is a party to the treaty is not involved directly or indirectly in the concession.

Reuter.

COMPANY'S STATEMENT

Washington, Sept. 3.

A statement issued on behalf of the Standard Vacuum Oil Company declares that Mr. F. M. Rickett approached them early in 1935 regarding the possibility of negotiating petroleum exploitation development with Ethiopia. A company was organized, the African Exploration Development Company, of Delaware, and Mr. Rickett was authorized to negotiate an agreement.

This did not provide for any payment or loan, nor had any been made, the statement said. The matter was handled as a private transaction with Ethiopia and there was no thought of consultation with any other Government.

President Roosevelt, informed of the oil company's decision, said he was most gratified, because the concession was so up-setting to peace negotiations.

QUESTION OF SANCTIONS

Paris, Sept. 3.

The expectations held here that England would drop the demand for the employment of sanctions, when the matter came to a head at Geneva, now appears to have been abandoned. The "L'intransigeant" described the outlook as distinctly pessimistic.

Premier Laval having left twenty-four hours before he intended only proves that his talks with Mr. Anthony Eden have not assured him.

This paper recalls the resolutions of the Trades Union Congress at Margate and the pronouncement of the Archbishop of York who are both in favour of the sanctions even if these meant war. These, in the opinion of the "Paris Intransigeant" make it impossible for Mr. Eden to retract.

MAMAK HOCKEY

PROPOSAL DEFEATED

A proposal that Service players should not be allowed to play for Civilian Clubs in the Mamak Hockey Tournament met with defeat at the 4th annual general meeting of this body which was held yesterday afternoon at the St. Andrew's Church Hall.

It was stated that it would be an unfair imposition on a serviceman if a rule was introduced forbidding him from playing from a civilian side, especially if his unit or regiment were not participating in the Tournament. It was always understood that if either his ship, unit or regiment—as the case may be—entered for the tournament, they would have first call on his services, therefore the necessity to have a rule framed especially as proposed, would not arise. If he played from a civilian side, then he would automatically not be able to play for a service team or vice versa.

There was a very good attendance, in which civilian representatives predominated.

THE OFFICIALS

The following officials were elected to serve during the ensuing year:—

President: The Honourable Inspector General of Police.

Vice-Presidents: Rev. Higgs, Major M. H. A. Campbell and Lt. Comdr. Broome.

Chairman: Capt. Kimm.

Hon. Sec.: Mr. L. Tyler.

Hon. Treasurer: N. A. E. Mackay.

Assistant Hon. Secs.: Mr. C. F. Brown (Army), Mr. A. S. Xavier (Civilian), The Navy representative is to be elected later.

Certain amendments of rules were passed after discussion, and a proposal that a club be allowed to enter one or more teams in the tournament met with unanimous approval.

Rule 26 was thus altered to read that "one player shall only be allowed to play for one team" as against the old rule "for one Club."

RULE INFRINGEMENTS

A proposal by the Hon. Secretary that all matters dealing with infringement of the rules—such as occurred when P. Singh of the Radio Sports Club was suspended last season—should be dealt with by the Hong Kong Hockey Association direct and not by the Executive Committee of the tournament was defeated, it being pointed out that if such were the case, the latter body would lose any disciplinary powers.

Mr. F. A. Kemp, Hon. Secretary of the H.K. Hockey Association attended on behalf of that body, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks for the Rev. J. R. Higgs for the use of the hall.

LAWN BOWLS

C.C.C. Pair Wins
Championship

The unfinished game in the final of the open pair lawn bowls championship was decided yesterday when the C.C.C. pair, M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh, who were leading the Bowling Green pair L. A. R. Duncan and R. Duncan by 17 shots to 12 on the 18th head, added four more shots to their opponents' 3 to annex the title for 1935. The final score was 21 shots to 15.

Though only three heads were played the high standard which was evidenced on the first day's play was maintained yesterday and all four players once again delighted the spectators with some clever bowls.

On the 19th head Cavanagh was lying on when Daddy Duncan bumped the shot away to return a two. Cavanagh tried to replace the shot but was unsuccessful and Daddy Duncan once again added the third shot.

On the 20th head Medina sent down two beautiful woods. The elder Duncan opened it up and was lying on with his next wood when Cavanagh came in with a beauty to displace it and to return a solitary shot.

The 21st head saw the real standard of the game being displayed by the participants. First one and then the other shone.

Medina bowled dead to the jack. "L. A. R." dislodged same. Medina came back again and was lying two shots and the younger Duncan's attempt to trail was unsuccessful. Dad Duncan tried to open up and managed to lay the second shot. Then it was Cavanagh's superb bowling that turned the game round. By clever drawing and blocking he was able to obtain three shots and to put the game beyond doubt.

FOOTBALLER ILL

Parker Admitted To Hospital

Sergt. S. Parker, the popular local football player, was admitted into the Kowloon Hospital on Tuesday, suffering from yellow jaundice.

This is a decided blow to the Police senior soccer eleven, who will in all probability have to commence their fixtures without the services of this popular half back, as it is most unlikely that he will be fit in time.

Parker was recognised last season, when he turned out in a number of representative games, turning out regularly for the Police team which caused a minor sensation in the Shield Games, when it entered the semi-final round.

THREE TEAMS NOW

The Police are entering three teams in the League this season, which will be comprised as follows:—

A European XI in the 1st Division, another in the third division as well as a Chinese team in the third division also. Last year the Police ran two elevens, the innovation this season being the introduction of a third division.

Fairbairn is a candidate for the St. Leger and ran in the Derby. It is owned by Lt.-Col. Giles Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards have two boys besides the twins.

"TOUGH LUCK"

Just Missed The 300 M.H.P.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 3.

"Tough luck," murmured Sir Malcolm Campbell when he was informed that he had just missed the 300 m.p.h. an hour average when he broke the world's speed record for the measured mile in Bluebird to-day.

He had covered the north-easterly mile in 11.83 seconds after he burst a tyre when travelling at 280 m.p.h. an hour. But in the south-westerly run he only managed to reach 12,005, an average speed of 299.875 miles per hour, compared to his previous record of 276.816 miles per hour.

On his first run Sir Malcolm came within a fraction of beating the American aeroplane record, which is 304.98 m.p.h. compared with the motoring ace's speed, 304.311.

Reuter.

SLIGHT BREEZE

London, Sept. 3.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, driving his car Bluebird, with which he set up a world land speed record of 276.816 miles per hour, to-day attained a speed of 304.311 miles per hour at Bonneville Salt Flats. This was on the first run over the measured mile. A slight breeze reduced his speed on the second run, against the wind, and his average speed, which constitutes a new world record, was 299.874 miles per hour.

Conditions were perfect, both as to surface and visibility, but although the breeze was light it slowed down the car by about nine miles per hour, and Campbell, who is disappointed at not raising the record over the 300 miles an hour mark, has declared he may make another attempt to-morrow if the air is more still.

The engine stood up to the tremendous test magnificently. At the end of the second run, the nearside front tyre blew out, but Campbell showed wonderful nerve and kept the great car on its course.

The Minister of Transport, Mr. Hore Belisha, and Lord Wakefield have telegraphed congratulations to Sir Malcolm Campbell on his great achievement. Lord Wakefield says that in raising the world land speed record to such an astonishing figure, "you have nobly upheld the high reputation of British engineering and earned the admiration of motorists and sportsmen of all nations."

British Wireless.

OFFICIAL FIGURES

Salt Lake City, Sept. 4.

Sir Campbell's final official figures show that on the north-easterly run the time was 11.83 seconds or 304.311 miles per hour and on the south-westerly run it was 12.05 or 299.875 miles per hour. The mean average was 11.955 seconds for the mile and 301.292 miles per hour.

The figures of 301.292 were due to incorrect arithmetic on this part of American pressmen who jumped on a world record before the official announcement.

KING EDWARD

When He Played
Cricket

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 21.

The discovery by the Prince of Wales of an old score-book, recording a cricket match in which King Edward played, has revived memories of the match for the only living man who saw it.

He is Colonel Sir Weston Jarvis, Hobart Place, London, one of the three famous cricketing brothers. He is now 83.

The match was between I Zingari and the Gentlemen of Norfolk, and was played at Sandringham in 1836, when Sir Weston was ten.

King Edward, then Prince of Wales, played for I Zingari, who won by an innings and 98 runs.

Sir Weston told a reporter yesterday that the Prince was bowled first or second ball by a fast bowler named Wright. Both sides had suggested to Wright that he might deal gently with the Prince, who rarely played cricket. Wright, however, insisted on bowling in his usual style. Everyone was disappointed when the Prince's wicket fell.

OTHER RECORDS

The match has become part of Sandringham history, but all official record of it had been lost until the Prince of Wales presented the score-book to the Norfolk County Cricket Club.

The only other records are two photographs of the eleven, which were found in the pavilion at Lord's, and were identified by Sir Weston, who also traced a newspaper report of the match.

Sir Weston used to play for Norfolk, and one of his brothers, L. K. Jarvis, was a member of the famous Cambridge University XI of 1878, the only XI to beat the Australians that year and to win every match it played.

"Cricket," Sir Weston said, "was played hard in those days. There were some very fast bowlers, but the batsmen who faced them never squealed."

ENGLAND'S GAMBLE Wyatt Puts South Africa In

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Aug. 31.
At the end of the first day of the Fifth Test match South Africa have scored 297 for six wickets, writes a correspondent.

This looks a poor thing when presented in cold print. It suggests that, having won the only match so far decided in the four previously played, they have made up their minds to keep their hold on the "rubber" to place themselves in a position to avoid defeat before considering the possibilities of a win. That would be a legitimate objective. But there were circumstances at the Oval yesterday which put the ordinary events of a cricket match in the shade.

Above all else stood out the fact that when R. E. S. Wyatt won the toss he put the South Africans in to bat first.

There had been no rain, and sea mists do not reach Kennington. There was every reason to suppose, indeed, that the wicket would play as perfectly as any Oval wicket has ever played since the day when that prince of groundsmen, Apsley, discovered the secret of the perfect "dope".

And, as a rule, when England win the toss in fine weather there are prayers of thankfulness. Spectators sit back and expect to see the enemy field all day. Yet Wyatt, with the gift of the gods in his hands, put South Africa in!

At first sight this seemed like mid-August madness; but there were many, some of them old England captains, who argued that his policy was right. Their theory was that even if England had gone in to make four hundred they would not have scored enough to cause the South Africans to follow on. On the other hand, if England batted last they would know where they stood, and could shape their tactics accordingly. A pretty theory, which could apply to any match.

On figures, Wyatt's policy has paid South Africa has lost a certain number of wickets for a correspondingly moderate total. But being given first innings they have been presented with an opportunity to control the game. They have called the tune, which is one of slow metre, and they have made themselves almost safe from defeat, even in such a topsy-turvy game as cricket.

FEW ATTACKING STROKES

It is possible that South Africa would have made more runs if they had played that attacking game which has paid them so well against some of the counties. It was, for instance, strange to see Cameron—sixer Cameron—content merely to watch the ball as it passed by on the other side. But it must also be said that England's fast bowlers often pined so far outside the off-stump that an attacking stroke would have been batting suicide.

The best of England's cricket was the fielding. The fast bowling, although it took wickets now and then, had more brute strength than brain. It kept down runs, but it did not get wickets quickly—and time is everything from England's point of view.

A good hour before the start of the final Test match the ground showed few vacant spaces. There was already an atmosphere of eager expectancy, and the crowd had not even to wait for the first ball for the first thrill. A big board placed in front of the pitch proclaimed that England had won the toss. Great was the surprise, then, when R. E. S. Wyatt and his team trooped on to the field. Thousands of people were convinced for a time that the notice board had given false information. An Oval wicket—and the opposition. An Oval wicket—and the opposition put in! It seemed unbelievable. But that was the strange fact. One of the most remarkable decisions in Test match history had been made, and the South Africans proceeded to score 103 in the two hours before lunch without losing a wicket.

The England team had been packed with all the best bowlers available, and of the thirteen provisionally selected E. R. T. Holmes and Barber were omitted. But in spite of change and re-change, I. J. Sledis and B. Mitchell, who opened South Africa's innings, kept up their wickets and at the same time made runs at a quicker pace than is generally associated with the start of a Test match. They were frequently unpinpointable; they snickered the ball luckily through the slips a number of times; but at the end of an hour they had tamed, temporarily at least, the three fast bowlers on whom the English captain chiefly relied, and the changes to the slower paces which came later were thankfully received.

FAST BUMPING BALLS
H. D. Read and Nichols began the attack, and the opening overs had their incidents. Read, much faster than Nichols, relied upon fast bumping balls, and both batsmen showed more than a suspicion that they feared bodily injury. But they stood up to their work, and when only 21 had been scored, a fair proportion of them off the edge of the bat, one of which dropped dangerously near Hammond at first slip, Bowes was put on for Read. At 20, Read was brought back again in place of Nichols, and presently Bowes was permitted to bowl with a leg-trap field. It consisted of a short-leg square with the wicket, a forward short-leg, and a fine leg, all within eight yards of the batsmen, but as the bowler kept the ball for the most part outside the off-stump, the set of his field profited him little.

When B. Mitchell had made 17, he was bowled by a no-ball from Read, but the exclamations of "Hard luck, England!" were not justified. It was a good-looking ball which hit the stumps, and the batsman did not have a wild hit at it; but the probability is that the umpire's cry caused Mitchell to attempt to change his stroke at the last moment. There is seldom anything unlucky about a no-ball "wicket".

At the end of an hour the score showed 58, and the English captain gradually remembered his slower-paced bowlers. He put Hammond on at 68, and at the same total J. C. Clay was tried. Clay bowled round the wicket, with three fieldsmen close in on the leg side, but the batsmen by this time had settled down to very confident and comparatively brisk cricket. Mitchell was scoring at nearly twice the pace of his partner. Behind-the-wicket strokes brought him most of his runs, but occasionally—very occasionally—he drove hard past cover a stroke which he makes with almost classical correctness.

KEEN FIELDING

The fielding looked better than the bowling. Wyatt especially did fine things close to the wicket, and R. W. V. Robins came sufficiently into prominence at cover point and at deep fine leg to make it remarkable that Wyatt forgot so long that the Middlesex captain was on the side chiefly for his bowling. Others were used frequently in short spells, but it was not until the last over before lunch that Robins was given his first chance.

After lunch, Robins was put on at once, a case of belated repentance by England's captain, and he took the wicket almost at once which had defied five other bowlers. Sledis, with the score at 118, seemed to get mixed up with the break—the "is it going to be that one, or the other one idea" was caught by Ames for a good, solid 35, and at the same total E. A. Rowan was lbw.

Read, wildly erratic at times, caused both mental and physical pain to A. D. Nourse in the opening overs. Read's speed was obviously new to him, and he sparred at off balls in such a way that he was only saved from disaster by the grace of Providence. But he survived.

Change after change was made in the bowling, with Read and Bowes playing the leading parts. Nourse used his feet particularly well in getting down the pitch to Robins, and Mitchell, with the quick loss of two wickets coming to change the outlook, adopted his most dogged method. English bowling looked once more in a tangle, but after the third wicket had put on 48, Nourse, whose lion's share was 32, was caught off Bowes by a combination of anticipation and activity by Wyatt in the "guilty." If Wyatt could captain as well as he can field, what a leader he would be!

FADING VISION

Visions, if they had even existed, of a giant score quickly gathered had by this time disappeared. The longer Mitchell stayed the slower he became, and J. G. Viljoen, in a hurry, there were more changes of bowling, more fine fielding, more fast rising balls outside the off-stump judiciously left alone. The batsmen naturally refused to ape the fly and walk

NATIONALITY CONGRESS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Geneva, Sept. 3.

The eleventh European nationalities congress closed late on Tuesday afternoon, its labours having suffered from acute exasperation through which the League of Nations itself is now passing.

The resolution was carried unanimously by all the minorities groups concerned, it being declared that in most parts of Europe oppression or nationalities continues unchecked and that millions belonging to the minorities had turned to the League of Nations seeking for relief but in vain.

Regarding the question of the "situation of nationalities in the authoritarian State," there was a unanimity of view that the nationalities problem was independent of the form of Government and the solution was equally urgent under any regime.

MOSCOW SENTENCES

Moscow Sept. 3.

Three ex-officers of the Czarist Army, described as "White Guards," in an official report, were sentenced to death by court martial at Irkutsk.

A semi-official news agency, stated that in the course of the trial, terrorist activities of the "white guards" and their foreign employers were entirely exposed.

It was further alleged that the condemned ex-officers maintained relations with the military commission of certain foreign powers.

GREEK WARSHIPS

Athens, Sept. 3.

The law which hitherto forbade the construction of Greek war vessels in foreign countries has just been suspended by a decree of the Naval Minister, so that the Greek Admiralty is now free to order war vessels from abroad so as to reinforce the Navy at an accelerated rate. Four destroyers will be ordered forthwith.

straight into the spider's parlour. But at length, with the total at 234, even Mitchell's resistance gave out. He seemed to find something magnetic about a ball that got up quickly only a little outside the off-stump. There came the fatal touch and the triumphant appeal.

Mitchell had batted four hours and fifty minutes for his 128, exceedingly slow on the evidence of the clock, but not altogether uneventful. It was not an innings that left vivid memories. His definite strokes were few. For long periods he was seen passively watching the ball go by on the off-stump; but he contrived to hit eleven 4's. It was not, perhaps, one of those Test match innings that will be talked about in after years, but it was very valuable of its kind. It was an adaptable innings. It was bright at the beginning, when things were going well with his side; it was dour when trouble came.

H. B. Cameron came with the reputation of a hitter and remained to begin another career as a stickler. The man who is so bold an adventurer against the slower type of bowling looked unhappy against the fast, and after a laborious 8 he, like Mitchell, politely presented his bat to a rising off ball and was caught at slip with a piece of jugglery by Mitchell, who came dangerously near to missing an ordinary sharp catch at slip.

The S. African shutter was stubbornly up now, but there were holes in it, and when Bowes went on again after many trials, he quickly got rid of H. F. Wade, who had patted and pattered for twenty-five minutes without scoring. Once again it was a case of a fast rising ball, a sparring half-hearted stroke, and a catch at slip. At that point Read, in his last spell had taken two wickets for 7 runs in the course of five overs.

Nothing in particular happened after that, except that, with the total of 281, Wyatt remembered again that Robins was on the side, but E. L. Dalton, together with Viljoen, had thoroughly settled down by then. Dalton showed that the drive is still a recognized stroke in cricket, and Viljoen, with 60 to his name, also lives to bat another day.

The case in which Chan Yuk, 22, assistant at a stall in Water Street, is charged with unlawfully receiving a Parker fountain pen, the property of Sergeant Cordeaux, of the Hong Kong Police, living at Marble Hall, Conduit Road, was again remanded before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Police Court yesterday. Det.-Sergt. Cashman appeared for the prosecution and Mr. M. W. Lo was for the defence. The pen was missed from Sergt. Cordeaux's civilian coat pocket between 4 a.m. and 7.30 a.m. on Saturday and was found in a glass case at the defendant's stall on Sunday morning.

Leung Kam, cook employed at Flagstaff House, was the complainant before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Police Court yesterday against Ng Yuen-hing, 24, travelling trader, who pleaded guilty to stealing his leather purse and was also charged with the possession of a razor blade, fit for an unlawful purpose. Defendant was sentenced to six months' hard labour. The incident occurred on the Canton wharf on Monday afternoon. Another man, Chow Chiu, 46, unemployed, denied charges of theft and receiving, and his case was adjourned. Det.-Sergt. Cashman prosecuted.

Lo Cheuk, 25, unemployed, was charged before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday with the possession of a quantity of dutiable tobacco in May Road. He admitted the offence and was sentenced to a fine of $8, or 10 days' hard labour. Sub-Inspector J. Walsh prosecuted.

A woman named Tang Sau, aged 64, was brought before Mr. Macfadyen yesterday at the Central Magistracy, charged with the possession of dutiable tobacco at the Ping-On Wharf, Connaught Road West. Defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $100, or two months' hard labour. Revenue Officer A. W. Grimmit appeared for the prosecution.

"SANATOGEN will soon put him right again"

Physicians know by experience, how quickly and surely Sanatogen will build up strength in debilitated patients.

Whatever the cause of the weakness, be it illness, overwork or worry, Sanatogen cannot fail to do good. The phosphorus it contains is pure strength to the weakened, nerve-cells. The albumin is nature's own building material of bodily power. It is the intricate combination of these two elements that has won Sanatogen the written recommendations of over 25,000 physicians.

And the splendid part of it is that Sanatogen is not only a true tonic-food, but also very easily digestible, so that the weakest patient, and the weakest stomach, can digest it.

Sanatogen must do you good. It does not interfere with any medical treatment, and every glassful brings you nearer to perfect health again. Shorten that tedious period of convalescence. Be strong and healthy again. You can if you start your course of Sanatogen today.

BERLIN BOURSE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Sept. 3.
The sharemarket showed a further sag in prices on Tuesday because though the stock offered was very small in amount, demand was nearly non-existent, chiefly because of the tension of the uncertainty of the international political situation. The lignite shares particularly were weak.

Fixed interest securities were quiet, price declines outnumbering the advances. Call Money rose from 3 1/2 to 3 3/4. Young Loan decline 1/2 to 102 1/2. Reichsbank declined 1 1/2 to 183 1/2. Salzdorf Potash 1 lower to 184. German Steeltrucks slumped 1 1/2 to 81 1/2. German Mineral Oils dropped 1 1/2 to 109 1/2. Siemenshalske dropped 2 to 175, and Bemberg Rayon plunged 2 1/2 to 114.

REICHSBANK RETURN

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Sept. 3.

The Reichsbank return dated August 31 issued on Tuesday shows that Goldstock stood unchanged at 94.8 while foreign currency reserves decline by 0.1 to 5.3 million Reichsmarks, making a net decrease in notecover of 0.1 to 100.1 million Reichsmarks.

The note circulation increased by 393.4 to 4031.8 million Reichsmarks. The amount of credit issued, by bills, cheques, advances and investments increased by 518.5 to 4753.5 million Reichsmarks. This sudden heavy increase in credit is explained partly by the necessities for financing harvest and partly by the stimulation of home business, especially through the successful Leipzig Fair whereby a great increase in the number of merchandise bills were set into circulation.
